

Black History Web Resources

There are many websites with information on Black History and Black History Month. We have provided a sample of some of the websites available that may be of interest to teachers and students.

Parks Canada

This Portal regroups Parks Canada's material related to Black Canadian history and heritage in one location.

http://www.pc.gc.ca/culture/mhn-bhm/index_E.asp

This site lists the history of Canadian Blacks and the various festivities and celebrations which will be taking place around Canada.

<http://www.cic.gc.ca/multi/mhn-bhm/even/index-eng.asp>

Citizenship and Immigration Canada

The museum features an excellent and indepth photo exhibit which looks at the journey of slaves who escaped north to Canada.

<http://www.pc.gc.ca/culture/mhn-bhm/index>

Black History Canada Portal

This is a Historica Foundation of Canada sponsored initiative. The portal was compiled by editors from The Canadian Encyclopedia in consultation with Rosemary Sadlier, President of the Ontario Black History Society.

The portal guides users from slavery and early settlement to equity and human rights. It addresses the issues of identity and assimilation and uncovers some of the "missing pages" of Canada's Black history – those important but often forgotten contributions of groups such as the Black Loyalists and the Maroons. The achievements of Black artists, athletes and politicians are also celebrated. Each theme features an introductory essay written by Rosemary Sadlier, captivating images, and annotated links to the best online resources available.

<http://blackhistorycanada.ca/>

Black History Month

EDSLECT is a Canadian teacher focused website dedicated to providing online resources for teachers. This part of the website is specifically focused on Black History Month.

http://www.edselect.com/black_history_month.htm

Black Canadian and Afro-American Web Sites - Dalhousie University Libraries

Dalhousie University offers a list of Canadian and American websites of interest to those researching Black Canadians or Black Americans. Other pages of more local interest are linked in the sidebar.

<http://www.library.dal.ca/subjects/CanBlack.htm>

Leading English Education and Resources Network-Black History Links

LEARN is an educational foundation supported by funding from the Quebec-Canada Entente for Minority Language Education.

This part of the site has some great links to Quebec based Black History resources, including Some Missing Pages: The Black Community in the History of Québec and Canada.

http://www.learnquebec.ca/en/content/curriculum/social_sciences/features/bhr/index.html

Black History in Ontario - The End of Slavery

Archives of Ontario offers a number of online resources and information on the Black presence in Ontario. This is an excellent site for teachers and students.

http://www.archives.gov.on.ca/english/exhibits/black_history/index.html

Education World - Curriculum: Black History on the Internet

Education World's annotated list of "best Black History sites for primary, middle, and high school level students." Activity and lesson ideas are included.

http://www.education-world.com/a_curr/curr056.shtml

Canadian Black Heritage in the Third Millennium Web Portal

The Canadian Black Heritage in the Third Millennium Web Portal was created by educator/school administrator Gary Pieters, as an online resource for educators, researchers, writers, students and people researching Black History from a Canadian Perspective.

This Web portal contain comprehensive Internet resources which categorizes past, present and future events, people, places and issues about Canadians of African descent. The website reflects his interest in culturally relevant, and inclusive curriculum.

<http://fcis.oise.utoronto.ca/~gpieters/blklinks.html>